ORDER MADE UNDER THE
ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT ACT

EXEMPTION—MINISTRY OF THE
ENVIRONMENT—MOE-26

Having received a request from the Ministry of the Environment that an undertaking, namely:

the activity of cleaning up waste material on part of Lot 17, Concession 11 in the Township of King and disposing of such material and the related work pursuant to the Order of the Minister of the Environment dated August 31, 1983,

Having been advised by the Ministry of the Environment that if the undertaking is subject to the application of the Act, the following injury, damage or interference with the persons and property indicated will occur:

Having weighed such injury, damage, or interference against the betterment of the people of the whole or any part of Ontario by the protection, conservation and wise management in Ontario of the environment which would result from the undertaking being subject to the application of the Act;

The undersigned is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to order and orders that the undertaking is exempt from the application of the Act for the following reasons:

Treasurer's Sale of Lands for Arrears of Taxes

Each year, municipal and county treasurers compile a list of properties against which taxes are outstanding for at least two successive years, which is a period sufficient to permit sale of the owner's assets to reimburse the municipality. These lists are submitted by the municipal representative to the Ministry of Government Services for publication in THE ONTARIO GAZETTE.

The Gazette is published every Saturday. Tax sale lands are included only in the issue of the first Saturday of each month. Each property is described so that it may be properly identified. Also shown are the amount of tax arrears and costs, and the date, time and place where the sale will be held, which is usually in a public building in the locality. Sales are held three months or later following the date of publication in the Gazette and are subject to a reserve bid equal to the amount of tax arrears and costs.

The previous owner may by law redeem the property any time within one year and one day after the date of tax sale by paying to the municipality all arrears plus costs levied. Where redemption occurs, the municipality reimburses the purchaser of tax sale lands for the amount paid at the sale plus an additional amount to be determined in each case.

If the land is not redeemed in the manner described above, the purchaser at sale, receives from the municipality a tax deed or certificate which should be registered in the appropriate Land Titles or Registry Office. A purchaser should ascertain from either of these offices, information relating to any of the charges or liens against the land and consider the advisability of employing the services of a solicitor to determine the extent, if any, of his liability.

The foregoing applies to tax sale lands which were privately owned. In the event the land is the property of the Crown as represented by the Province of Ontario, only the improvements on the property, such as buildings, may be sold. In this case, an intending purchaser should for his own protection ascertain from the local office of the Ministry of Natural Resources whether or not the land or any part can be purchased or leased from the Ministry. If it cannot, then the purchaser of the improvements would be required to remove them from the land.

In some cases, the owner, prior to sale, may pay the tax arrears and costs. Where this occurs, the land is removed from the tax sale lists.

- C. Public enjoyment of recreational features may be reduced in the absence of the implementation of Provincial Parks projects.
- D. The realization of Government's Outdoor Recreation Program Objective and economic benefits to local communities would be limited.

Having weighed such injury, damage or interference with the betterment of the people of the whole or any part of Ontario by the protection, conservation and wise management of the environment which would result from the undertaking being subject to the application of the Act;

The undersigned is of the opinion that it is in the public interest to order and orders that the undertaking is exempt from the application of the Act for the following reasons:

- A. The Ministry of Natural Resources (MNR) is preparing an Environmental Assessment for the Provincial Parks Program which is scheduled to be sent to the Minister of the Environment to initiate pre-submission consultation before the expiry of exemption order MNR-30/3 (which was filed as Ontario Regulation 348/83), the predecessor of this order.
- B. This interim exemption will allow Provincial Parks plans and projects to continue while the Environmental Assessment on the Provincial Parks Program undergoes pre-submission consultation.
- C. The Provincial Parks Program is carried out within a context of conservation, protection and wise management of the environment. A major feature of the Provincial Parks Program is the preservation of significant, natural and cultural features in the Ontario landscape.

- D. The conditions to which this undertaking is subject will ensure that affected Government agencies and the public are informed of MNR's intentions to implement components of the Provincial Parks Program during the period of this exemption.
- E. A number of activities that make up this undertaking are similar to activities that are covered by approved MNR Class Environmental Assessments. The Minister of Natural Resources will apply such parts of the procedures specified in the Class Environmental Assessments as are appropriate to the activities that make up this undertaking until such procedures, or other procedures are made directly applicable by the Environmental Assessment referred to in reason A.

This exemption order is subject to the following terms and conditions:

1. This exemption does not apply to any plan or project:
  - (a) for any provincial park set apart as a provincial park by the Lieutenant Governor in Council after June 1, 1983, unless specified by some other approval or exemption;
  - (b) where development is likely to modify or disturb the habitat of a species designated under the Endangered Species Act;
  - (c) where the estimated completion cost of a sewage or water works or a Capital Construction or Lease Purchase Project is in excess of $2 million, not including any land acquisition costs;
  - (d) where a major resource extraction facility or operation is to be developed or substantially upgraded or have its operating restrictions changed significantly or removed within a Provincial Park;
  - (e) where a major commercial recreation facility is to be developed or substantially upgraded by the private sector within a Provincial Park;
  - (f) where a Park Management Plan for an undeveloped Provincial Park is being implemented, unless the Park Management Plan is for a nature reserve class of park;
  - (g) to acquire land for or establish boundary regulations for a new Provincial Park.

2. MNR will provide the Environmental Assessment Branch as well as the Regional office of the Ministry of the Environment (MOE) with a list of proposed plans and projects (e.g., annual work plans) for the Provincial Parks Program no less than 30 days prior to the implementation of any plan or project. The lists will specify the nature, size and location of all plans and projects. MNR will notify the above offices of revisions to the lists no less than 30 days prior to the implementation of any such plans or projects.
3. A copy of the project plans specified in the lists noted in Condition 2 shall be available to the public for examination at the appropriate District Office of MNR at least 30 days before implementation commences.
4. Activities carried out in Provincial Parks that would be covered by an approved MNR Class Environmental Assessment, except that they are occurring in a Provincial Park will:
  - (a) follow the appropriate Class Environmental Assessment procedures, including notification, if there is no Park Management Plan; and
  - (b) follow the environmental quality guidelines and Construction and Mitigation Handbook, if there is a Park Management Plan.
5. Should it become apparent to the Minister of Natural Resources that a project exempt under this order meets the criteria set out below, or the public approaches either the Minister of Natural Resources or the Minister of the Environment, and upon notice and consultation between Ministries, either Minister may decide that an individual Environmental Assessment be prepared in the following circumstances:
  - (a) where a proposed plan or project generates an unusual amount of public or Government concern;
  - (b) where there are unusual or significant potential environmental impacts not adequately treated in the pertinent planning exercise;
  - (c) where a land area that has significant earth science, life science or cultural features is acquired for the purposes of or is brought into the Provincial Parks Program; and
  - (d) where a Provincial Park is to be retired.

6. Where an Environmental Assessment has been done and approval to proceed received or an exemption granted for an individual Provincial Parks plan or project, that plan or project shall be deemed to be a separate undertaking not exempt by this order.
7. During the period covered by this order, MNR will plan, implement and manage the Provincial Parks Program according to the following Provincial Parks' guidelines and policies:
  - Ontario Provincial Parks Policy
  - Ontario Provincial Parks Planning and Management Policies
  - Provincial Park Management Planning Guidelines—1983
  - Park Management and Operating Plan Format
  - Landscape Design Principles and Guidelines
  - Visitor Services Interim Policy
8. Any revisions to the guidelines and policies cited in Condition 7 and any new policies and guidelines will be placed in the Public Record for this exemption order.
9. Those plans and projects planned under the previous exemption (MNR-30/3 filed as Ontario Regulation 348/83), but not implemented by the date of its expiry, may continue to proceed in accordance with the conditions of this exemption.
10. Those plans and projects planned under this exemption, but not fully implemented by the date of expiry of this exemption, will have their status under the Act reviewed in connection with the review of the Environmental Assessment for the Provincial Parks Program and, if provided for in conditions of approval issued in connection with the undertaking, may continue to proceed in accordance with such conditions.
11. This order expires on the earlier date of October 31, 1984 or upon the granting of an approval under the Act for the Provincial Parks Program undertaking. O. Reg. 723/83.

CODE FOR MEASURING
AIRBORNE SILICA

MINISTRY OF LABOUR
OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY DIVISION

AIR SAMPLING METHOD FOR SILICA*1. Principle of the Sampling Method

Air, possibly containing silica, is drawn at a specified flow rate for a known duration through a cyclone and a silver membrane filter. The respirable dust collected on the sample filter is analyzed for silica by x-ray diffraction. This personal sampling method may be used for area sampling by placing a sampling train on a suitable support at a strategically selected location.

2. Equipment

Silica dust collected on a filter with the following equipment shall, for the purpose of this regulation, be deemed respirable.

The sampling train used to obtain an air sample for silica analysis shall include the following components, and satisfy the criteria suggested:

(1) A battery operated portable pump which:

- (a) is capable of delivering, for 6-8 hours, not less than 1.7 litres of air per minute with the cyclone and the filter in the sampling train. The maximum deviation from the prescribed flow rate shall not exceed  $\pm 5\%$  and the pump shall be equipped with a pulsation damper;
- (b) is intrinsically safe, i.e., certified by an accepted agency as safe for use in potentially explosive atmospheres;
- (c) includes a calibrated flow meter or a mechanism for maintaining a constant flow rate;

- (d) has an on-off switch and flow rate control or adjustment mechanism which are as tamper-proof as possible.
- (2) A 10 mm nylon cyclone.
  - (3) A filter assembly incorporating:
    - (a) a silver membrane filter of appropriate size, preferably 25 mm in diameter, and 5.0  $\mu\text{m}$  pore size;
    - (b) a cellulose filter support pad of the same size as the silver membrane filter used, preferably 25 mm in diameter;
    - (c) a close-faced filter holder of the same size as the silver membrane filter and the filter support pad used, preferably 25 mm in diameter; and
    - (d) an adapter which provides a leak-proof fit for connecting tubing.
  - (4) Tubing of sufficient length with appropriate wall thickness to prevent collapsing when air is drawn through and with appropriate inner diameter to provide a leak-proof fit to the filter holder and to the inlet port of the portable pump.
  - (5) A light bracket or frame for holding the filter holder and the cyclone.
  - (6) A thermometer, if required, for ambient air temperature measurement, accurate to  $\pm 1^{\circ}\text{C}$ .

- (7) A barometer, if required, for measuring atmospheric pressure, accurate to  $\pm 5$  mm Hg ( $\pm 0.67$  kPa).

3. Sampling Procedure

(1) Preparation of Pumps:

- (a) The pump battery pack shall be fully charged according to the manufacturer's instructions, before use in any work shift. If air sampling is carried out for more than one shift on the same day, a fully-charged battery pack shall be substituted for the used one.
- (b) Flow meters, or constant flow devices on the pumps shall be calibrated at 1.7 litres per minute (Lpm) with the cyclone and the filter holder in line by using a primary standard, such as a bubble meter, and the recommended procedure in the manufacturer's instructions for using such primary standard apparatus, after:
  - (i) not more than 40 hours of operation;
  - (ii) receiving unusually harsh or potentially damaging treatment;
  - (iii) being disassembled for maintenance.

(2) Preparation of Filter Holders and Cyclones:

- (a) Assemble the filter holders and the cyclones in a clean environment prior to initiation of sampling.

- (b) Each filter holder shall be prepared by the following procedures:
    - (i) use only a clean filter holder and handle the filter support pad with tweezers. Place a filter support pad and then a silver membrane filter in the base of a filter holder;
    - (ii) plug the inlet and outlet ports;
    - (iii) ensure that the joints of the filter holder are sealed with non-porous, shrinkable cellulose band or tape.
  - (c) Connect the inlet port of the filter holder to the cyclone head adapter, assemble the cyclone and filter holder and hold them in a bracket, ensuring that there is an airtight seal between the cyclone and the filter holder.
- (3) Sampling:
- (a) Assemble the sampling train by fixing one end of the flexible tubing to the inlet port of the pump and the other end to an adapter on the outlet port of the filter holder.
  - (b) Check for air leaks in the sampling train by turning on the pump and sealing the inlet port of the cyclone. The air flow indicator on a pump with a flow meter should drop to the zero flow position and oscillate slightly. If this does not occur, find the leak and either repair or replace the faulty component.

- (c) Label the filter holder with an appropriate sample number.
- (d) Attach the pump preferably to the worker's belt or place it in his pocket, place the flexible tubing over the shoulder and clip the bracket containing the filter holder and cyclone to the worker's clothing as near as possible to the breathing zone. Ensure that the inlet port of the filter holder is facing downward and that the cyclone remains in a vertical position. The sampling train should not interfere with the worker's movements.
- (e) Check again that the sampling train is properly assembled, remove the plastic plug from the filter holder's inlet port and switch on the pump. Allow the flow rate to stabilize for a short duration and then adjust the rate to the pre-calibrated mark of 1.7 litres per minute, if the pump has a flow meter. Pumps with constant flow devices shall not be reset after the flow rate control mechanism has been calibrated to deliver air at this rate. A calibrated external flow meter may be used to check the air flow rate. It should be noted that the air flow rate influences the cyclone efficiency and it is essential to maintain the flow rate of 1.7 litres per minute.
- (f) Note the following information for each sample:
  - (i) date of sampling;
  - (ii) company name;
  - (iii) model and serial number of the sampling pump;
  - (iv) calibration date of the sampling pump;
  - (v) name of worker being monitored;

- (vi) job title of worker;
  - (vii) work or operation performed;
  - (viii) filter holder or sample number;
  - (ix) air flow rate;
  - (x) time of initiation of sampling.
- (g) In the air sampling performed during any day, prepare two blank filters by the procedure as outlined in paragraphs 3(2)(a) and 3(2)(b). One of the blank filters must remain in its sealed filter holder until analysis, and label this as an analytical blank. Handle the other blank in the same manner as the samples during the survey, except that no air is drawn through it. Label the latter as the field blank.
- (h) Sampling should be carried out for a full work shift or operation during which the worker is exposed to silica and in any case the sampling duration shall be selected to ensure that a sufficient amount of silica is collected for analysis. A minimum sampling duration of four hours would be appropriate in most cases. Where it is necessary to obtain a better estimate of the worker's time-weighted average exposure, air sampling should be conducted for a sufficient number of work shifts or days in a work week.
- (i) During the sampling interval, the sampling train shall be checked periodically to ensure that it is functioning properly. If the pump used is not equipped with a constant flow device and if the air flow rate drops slightly during the course of air sampling, the flow rate shall be re-adjusted to 1.7 Lpm. If the flow rate changes significantly and cannot be re-adjusted, terminate sampling and take another sample. A pump equipped with a constant flow device does not require flow rate re-adjustment after setting the initial flow rate.

- (j) The ambient air temperature and pressure in the sampling area, if required, should be recorded at least once.
  - (k) To terminate sampling, perform the following sequence of steps:
    - (i) check the air flow rate just prior to termination of air sampling;
    - (ii) record the time of termination of sampling;
    - (iii) switch off the pump and carefully remove the sampling train from the worker, keep the filter holder and the cyclone in a vertical position;
    - (iv) carefully and gently disconnect the filter holder from the cyclone, insert clean plastic plugs into the inlet and outlet ports of the filter holder;
- Note: Jarring or inverting the sampling train prior to sealing the filter holder can lead to invalid results.
- (v) ship the filter and filter holder together to a laboratory for silica analysis. In order to determine whether the air samples may contain substances which would interfere with the analysis, approximately 1 gram of settled dust should be collected from the sampling area, and also sent to the laboratory in a labelled plastic vial for analysis.

(4) Calculation of Results

- (a) Corrections for the field blank are made for each sample provided that the various amounts of analyte in all sample filters are greater than the amount of analyte in the field blank filter.
- (b) The concentration of silica in the air sample can be calculated by using the following equation:

$$C = \frac{1000 \times A}{1.7 \times t}$$

Where  $C$  = concentration of silica in  $\text{mg}/\text{m}^3$ ;

$A$  = corrected amount of silica on the sample filter in mg;

- (c) Silica may be in one of the commonly found crystalline mineral forms such as quartz, cristobalite or tridymite. Where the analyses are feasible, the concentration of each form of silica shall be calculated and reported.

THE DETERMINATION OF ALPHA QUARTZ
ON
AIR SAMPLING FILTERS

1. Principle of Method

- (1) A known volume of air is drawn through a silver membrane filter to collect the analyte.
- (2) The filter is analyzed by x-ray diffraction to detect the presence of quartz peaks.
- (3) The normalized intensity of the quartz peak is measured and the amount of quartz present is determined by comparing the normalized intensity to a calibration curve.
- (4) The amount of quartz present in a sample is determined by using two different peaks of quartz in order to avoid errors due to interferences.

2. Apparatus

- (1) An air sampling device incorporating a 25 mm diameter silver membrane filter.
- (2) X-ray diffraction equipment with cobalt x-ray target and graphite monochromator.
- (3) Modified sample holders with metal spring clips to hold 25 mm diameter silver membrane filters in position.
- (4) Balance capable of weighing to  $\pm 0.01$  mg or better.

- (5) Standard filters for calibration.
- (6) A pair of tweezers.

3. Reagents

- (1) Cristobalite prepared from silica gel, milled to less than about 10  $\mu\text{m}$  diameter or other suitable standard.
- (2) Ottawa silica sand, milled to less than about 10  $\mu\text{m}$  diameter.

4. Procedure

- (1) Examine the filter surface for dust colour, uneven deposition, loose dust, staining, punctures of the surface, etc. and record all pertinent observations.
- (2) Mount the filter in the sample holder such that the deposit will be exposed to the x-ray beam during measurement of the diffraction peaks.
- (3) Insert the sample into the diffractometer.
- (4) Scan over the  $2\theta$  ranges, approximately  $24.3^\circ$  to  $26.3^\circ$  and approximately  $35.7^\circ$  to  $37.1^\circ$  corresponding to the (101) and (102) peaks of cristobalite, respectively. Due to its lower x-ray intensity, the measurement of the (102) peak is made three times.
- (5) Determine the background of each peak by measuring the x-ray intensities at the beginning and the end of each peak scan.

- (6) Scan the (112) peak of the external quartz standard before and after each batch of samples to ensure the stability of the x-ray beam. If there is a significant difference in the count rates, e.g. about 3%, repeat the analyses of the samples.
- (7) In order to avoid errors due to interferences, the positions and the ratio of intensities of the two peaks determined for the sample shall be consistent with those of the calibration standard.
- (8) In addition, the bulk samples collected prior to or simultaneous with the collection of the personal air samples are analyzed by x-ray diffraction to confirm the presence of cristobalite by comparison with reference data published by the Joint Committee on Powder Diffraction Standards as well as with the diffraction pattern obtained from the calibration standards. Other techniques are used as necessary to determine the effects of interfering compounds.
- (9) Determine the normalized intensity of each cristobalite peak (the ratio of the area under a peak to that of the external standard) and compare it to the appropriate calibration curve to determine the weight of cristobalite.
- (10) Calculate the weight of cristobalite present in the sample.
- (11) Analyze the blank filters by the same procedure as used for the sample filters.

5. Calibration

- (1) Prepare a permanent external standard by mixing finely ground Ottawa silica sand in epoxy resin and mounting the mixture in a specimen holder.

- (2) Prepare the cristobalite standard by heating silica gel (e.g. Fisher No. S-154), ground to less than 200 mesh, in a furnace at a temperature of 1200°C for about 8 hours and removing from the furnace to cool at ambient temperatures. The standard prepared in this way has been found, through inter-laboratory testing, to contain about 58% cristobalite.
- (3) Generate a dust cloud by dispersing the cristobalite standard in a dust chamber. Using the air sampling device described in the personal sampling method, prepare several sets of standard filters by sampling the dust cloud. By varying the feed rate and the sampling time obtain filters containing approximately 0.01 mg to 2.00 mg of cristobalite.
- (4) Analyze the standard filters as described in section 4.
- (5) Plot the normalized intensities of the (101) and the (102) peaks versus the net weights of pure cristobalite on the standard filters. Construct a calibration curve for each set of cristobalite peak measurements by fitting a linear regression curve through the appropriate data points.

6. Calculations

- (1) Calculate the normalized intensity of each peak measurement:

$$\frac{\text{Integrated area under the peak}}{\text{Integrated area under the (112) peak of the external quartz standard}}$$

- (2) Calculate the weight of cristobalite for each peak measurement:

Normalized intensity x slope of calibration curve + intercept of the curve

- (3) If there is no interference of the (101) and the (102) peaks, calculate the weight of cristobalite:

Weight of cristobalite by (101) peak	+	1/3	Sum of weights of cristobalite by three (102) peak measure- ments
---	---	-----	--

7. Range and Sensitivity

- (1) The detection limit of the method has been found to be about 0.01 mg cristobalite on a 25 mm filter.
- (2) The total weight of dust collected on a filter should not exceed 2.00 mg because excessive loading may lead to dust loss from the filter surface during handling and transportation.

8. Precision and Accuracy

- (1) The precision and the accuracy of the method has not been determined.

9. Interferences

- (1) Several minerals have diffraction peaks that interfere with the most intense diffraction peak (101) of cristobalite: these include quartz, tridymite, microcline and plagioclase feldspars. In such cases the amount of cristobalite may be estimated by measuring the area under the secondary peak (102) or by measuring the height of the (101) peak.

- (2) The presence of certain elements such as iron can give rise to x-ray fluorescence, leading to poor peak resolution and high backgrounds. This situation may be overcome by using a diffracted beam graphite monochromator.

10. Advantages and Disadvantages of Method

- (1) The method is specific for cristobalite; recalibration is necessary for other polymorphs of silica.
- (2) It is non-destructive and requires little sample preparation.
- (3) The method can be automated.

THE DETERMINATION OF CRISTOBALITE
ON
AIR SAMPLING FILTERS

1. Principle of Method

- (1) A known volume of air is drawn through a silver membrane filter to collect the analyte.
- (2) The filter is analyzed by x-ray diffraction to detect the presence of cristobalite peaks.
- (3) The normalized intensity of the cristobalite peak is measured and the amount of cristobalite present is determined by comparing the normalized intensity to a calibration curve.
- (4) The amount of cristobalite present in a sample is determined by using two different peaks of cristobalite in order to avoid errors due to interferences.

2. Apparatus

- (1) An air sampling device incorporating a silver membrane filter, preferably 25 mm in diameter.
- (2) X-ray diffraction equipment with cobalt x-ray target and graphite monochromator.
- (3) Modified sample holders with metal spring clips to hold 25 mm diameter silver membrane filters in position.
- (4) Balance capable of weighing to  $\pm 0.01$  mg or better.

(5) Standard filters for calibration.

3. Reagents

(1) Ottawa silica sand, milled to less than about 10  $\mu\text{m}$  diameter.

4. Procedure

(1) Examine the filter surface for dust colour, uneven deposition, loose dust, staining, punctures of the surface, etc. and record all pertinent observations.

(2) Mount the filter in the sample holder such that the deposit will be exposed to the x-ray beam during measurement of the diffraction peaks.

(3) Insert the sample into the diffractometer.

(4) Scan over the 2  $\theta$  ranges, approximately  $29.8^\circ$  to  $31.9^\circ$  and approximately  $58.2^\circ$  to  $59.7^\circ$  corresponding to the (101) and (112) peaks of quartz, respectively. Due to its lower x-ray intensity, the measurement of the (112) peak is made three times.

(5) Determine the background of each peak by measuring the x-ray intensities at the beginning and the end of each peak scan.

(6) Scan the (112) peak of the external standard before and after each batch of samples to ensure the stability of the x-ray beam. If there is a significant difference in the count rates,

- (3) If there is no interference of the (101) and the (112) peaks, calculate the weight of quartz:

Weight of quartz by (101) peak	+ 1/3	Sum of weights of quartz by three (112) peak measurements

7. Range and Sensitivity

- (1) This method is useful over the range of 0.01 mg to 2.00 mg using Ottawa silica sand on a 25 mm filter.
- (2) The total weight of dust collected on a filter should not exceed 2.00 mg because excessive loading may lead to dust loss from the filter surface during handling and transportation.

8. Precision and Accuracy

- (1) Over the normal working range of quartz deposited on a 25 mm silver membrane filter, the intralaboratory and interlaboratory precisions have been found to be  $\pm 0.01$  mg and  $\pm 0.02$  mg respectively.
- (2) The accuracy of the method has not been determined.

9. Interferences

- (1) Several minerals have diffraction peaks that interfere with the most intense diffraction peak (101) of quartz: these include biotite, muscovite, microcline, plagioclase feldspars, graphite and iron carbide. In such cases the amount of quartz may be estimated by measuring the area under the secondary peak (112) or by measuring the height of the (101) peak.

e.g. greater than about 3%, repeat the analyses of the samples.

- (7) In order to avoid errors due to interferences, the positions and the ratio of intensities of the two peaks determined for the sample shall be consistent with those of the calibration standard.
- (8) In addition, the bulk samples collected prior to or simultaneous with the collection of the personal air samples are analyzed by x-ray diffraction to confirm the presence of quartz by comparison with reference data published by the Joint Committee on Powder Diffraction Standards as well as with the diffraction pattern obtained from the calibration standards. Other techniques are used as necessary to determine the effects of interfering compounds.
- (9) Determine the normalized intensity of each quartz peak (the ratio of the area under a peak to that of the external standard) and compare it to the appropriate calibration curve to determine the weight of quartz.
- (10) Calculate the weight of quartz present in the sample.
- (11) Analyze the blank filters by the same procedure used for the sample filters.

5. Calibration

- (1) Prepare a permanent external standard by mixing finely ground Ottawa silica sand in epoxy resin and mounting the mixture in a stainless steel holder.

- (2) Generate a dust cloud by dispersing pure quartz particles in a dust chamber. Using the air sampling device described in the personal sampling method, prepare several sets of standard filters by sampling the dust cloud. By varying the feed rate and the sampling time obtain filters containing approximately 0.01 mg to 2.00 mg of quartz.
- (3) Analyze the standard filters as described in section 4.
- (4) Plot the normalized intensities of the (101) and the (112) peaks versus the net weights of quartz on the standard filters. Construct a calibration curve for each set of quartz peak measurements by fitting a linear regression curve through the appropriate data points. Separate curves may be required for samples containing very high levels of analyte.

6. Calculations

- (1) Calculate the normalized intensity of each peak measurement:

$$\frac{\text{Integrated area under the peak}}{\text{Integrated area under the (112) peak of the external quartz standard}}$$

- (2) Calculate the weight of quartz for each peak measurement:

$$\text{Normalized intensity} \times \text{slope of calibration curve} + \text{intercept of the curve}$$

- (2) The presence of certain elements such as iron can give rise to x-ray fluorescence, leading to poor peak resolution and high backgrounds. This situation may be overcome by using a diffracted beam graphite monochromator.

Note: In the hexagonal system, the (101) and (112) are also known as (1011) and (1122) respectively.

10. Advantages and Disadvantages of Method

- (1) The method is specific for quartz; recalibration is necessary for other polymorphs of silica.
- (2) The sensitivity is greater than that of other methods such as infra-red spectrophotometry, colorimetry or wet chemistry.
- (3) It is non-destructive and requires little sample preparation.
- (4) The method can be automated.

APPENDIX

The determination of silica on 37 mm diameter filters used for air sampling follows the same principle and procedure as outlined above for the 25 mm diameter filters. A punch press is required, however, to punch out the central portion of the filter, approximately 25 mm in diameter, for x-ray diffraction analysis and separate calibration curves using 37 mm filters must be established.

SAMPLING AND ANALYTICAL PROCEDURES USED BY THE OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH LABORATORY WILL BE REVIEWED PERIODICALLY AND, IF NECESSARY, REVISED.

CODE FOR MEDICAL SURVEILLANCE OF

SILICA EXPOSED WORKERS

MINISTRY OF LABOUR
OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY DIVISION

October 17, 1983

MEDICAL SURVEILLANCE PROGRAM*1. Purpose

The objective of a medical surveillance program is to protect the health of workers by:

- (a) identifying workers with conditions which may be aggravated by exposure to silica and establishing a baseline measure for determining changes in health;
- (b) evaluating the effect of silica on workers;
- (c) enabling remedial action to be taken when necessary; and
- (d) providing health education.

2. Program

The medical surveillance program shall consist of the following:

- (a) pre-employment and pre-placement medical examinations;
- (b) periodic medical examinations;
- (c) clinical tests;
- (d) health education; and
- (e) record keeping.

3. Medical Examinations

The examination shall include the following:

(1) History

The initial medical and occupational history shall include enquiry for previous exposure to silica, personal habits (smoking) and history of present or past respiratory disorders (particularly tuberculosis). At the periodic examination the history shall be updated to include:

- (a) history of frequency and duration of exposure to silica since previous examination; and
- (b) enquiry for signs and symptoms of respiratory disease, e.g., dyspnea, cough, sputum, haemoptysis, wheezing and chest pain.

(2) Physical Examination

A physical examination with particular attention to the respiratory system shall be performed. The frequency of the periodic examination will depend on the intensity and length of exposure to silica and shall be decided by the examining physician. It need not be the same for all workers but shall be done at least once every two years.

4. Clinical Tests

Clinical tests aid in the assessment of a worker's fitness for continued exposure to silica.

The x-ray and pulmonary function testing facilities shall meet the quality requirements of the Occupational Health Branch. The x-rays shall be interpreted by a radiologist or chest physician proficient in reading chest radiographs by the International Labour Office, 1980 Code.

(1) X-rays

A chest x-ray, postero-anterior, shall be taken at least once every two years. A lateral x-ray is necessary only if required by the examining physician. At a pre-placement screening, to avoid unnecessary x-rays, the examining physician shall where practical obtain the medical status from another facility if the worker has been previously examined within the past year. A careful scrutiny of radiographs shall be made for early signs of silicosis or other chest disease, especially at the pre-placement examination. When exposure is discontinued the frequency of x-rays and the period of surveillance will depend on the intensity and duration of exposure and the findings in previous x-rays. The examining physician shall determine the duration and frequency of follow-up.

(2) Pulmonary Function Tests

Pulmonary function tests shall be taken in conjunction with the chest x-ray. The instruments shall be calibrated to currently applied standards as published in the "Snowbird Workshop on Standardization of Spirometry", American Review of Respiratory Disease, Vol. 119, 831-838, 1979. The tests shall include the  $FEV_1$ , FVC,  $FEV_1/FVC\%$  and a mid flow rate such as FEF 25-75%. All relevant data shall be corrected to body temperature and pressure (BTPS).

(3) Action Levels

An assessment of fitness for work shall be based on the clinical examination in conjunction with the clinical tests. For this reason no specific action level is stated for the latter. If the examining physician determines that signs of silicosis are present, the worker shall not be removed from silica exposure before consultation with the senior chest disease consultant of the Ministry of Labour and a rehabilitation officer of the Workers' Compensation Board (WCB). To qualify for compensation or rehabilitation further assessment by the WCB will be necessary.

If silicosis is confirmed, the physician shall then determine whether the worker is fit, fit with limitations or unfit and action taken in accordance with section 16 of the silica regulation.

For miners, WCB Form 86—Miners Chest Examination Report—shall be completed at each examination and forwarded to the Workers' Compensation Board.

5. Health Education

At the pre-placement and periodic examination all workers shall be advised of the hazard from silica and smoking, and their examination results shall be discussed. A worker on leaving employment shall be advised to inform his family physician of his previous silica exposure whenever he is being examined.

6. Medical History and Examination Records

Under the provisions of the silica regulation the examining physician shall maintain health records for each worker examined. Such records should include:

- name in full of worker;
- maiden surname of mother;
- date of birth;
- sex;
- social insurance number;
- occupations or job titles;
- date occupations or jobs commenced;
- the kinds of operations or processes in which the worker was involved;
- concentrations of airborne silica to which the worker is exposed;
- use of respiratory equipment;
- date of visits to physician's office;
- medical examination reports;
- health assessments;
- results of clinical test, e.g., chest x-ray and pulmonary function tests;
- copies of referral letter to a hospital or physician;
- copies of Forms 7 and 8 to the Workers' Compensation Board, if completed;
- all relevant correspondence concerning health and any information concerning actions taken in response to abnormal clinical tests.

A worker's health records shall be kept in a secure place by the examining physician for,

- (a) a period of forty years from the time such records were first made; or

- (b) a period of twenty years from the time the last of such records were made, whichever is the longer. Where the examining physician or his successor is no longer able, or willing, to keep the records, the records shall be forwarded to the Chief Physician of the Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry of Labour who shall keep them in a secure place.

OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY ACT

O. Reg. 769/83.

Designated Substance—Silica.

Made—November 17th, 1983.

Filed—December 9th, 1983.

REGULATION MADE UNDER THE OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH AND SAFETY ACT

DESIGNATED SUBSTANCE—SILICA

1. In this Regulation,

(a) "joint health and safety committee" includes a joint health and safety committee established under section 8 of the Act, a committee of like nature and the workers or their representatives who participate in an arrangement, program or system conforming to subsection 8 (2) of the Act;

(b) "mg" means milligrams;

(c) "m<sup>3</sup>" means cubic metre;

(d) "silica" means crystalline silica in a respirable form. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 1.

2. Silica is prescribed as a designated substance. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 2.

3.—(1) Subject to subsection (3), this Regulation applies to every employer and worker at a work place where silica is present, produced, processed, used, handled or stored and at which the worker is likely to inhale silica.

(2) Subject to subsection (3), an employer to whom this Regulation applies shall take every precaution reasonable in the circumstances to ensure that every worker who is not an employee of the employer but who is working in the work place of the employer and is exposed to silica and whose health is likely to be affected thereby is protected and the worker shall comply with the requirements of the employer.

(3) Subsection (2) and sections 4 to 17 of this Regulation do not apply to a constructor, to an employer who is carrying out a project, or to a worker working on or at a project. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 3.

4.—(1) Every employer shall take all necessary measures and procedures by means of engineering controls, work practices and hygiene practices and facilities to ensure that the time-weighted average exposure of a worker to airborne silica is reduced to the lowest practical level with a view to achieving at least 0.10 mg of silica per m<sup>3</sup> of air by volume, and in any event shall not exceed 0.20 mg of silica per m<sup>3</sup> of air.

(2) Subject to section 5, every employer shall comply with subsection (1) without requiring a worker to wear and use respiratory equipment.

(3) The time-weighted average exposure of a worker to airborne silica shall be calculated in accordance with the Schedule and the result of the calculation of the exposure may be certified by an inspector.

(4) Every worker shall work in compliance with the work practices and hygiene practices in accordance with the provisions of the silica control program.

(5) On a prosecution for a failure to comply with subsection (1), it shall be a defence for an employer to prove that he has complied with subsection (1) and that a breach of subsection (1) occurred solely because a worker failed to work in compliance with the work practices and hygiene practices in accordance with the provisions of the silica control program and the employer has taken every precaution reasonable in the circumstances to require the worker to do so. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 4.

5.—(1) Where the strict duty imposed by subsection 4 (1) cannot be complied with because,

- (a) an emergency exists; or
- (b) the measures and procedures necessary to control the exposure of a worker to airborne silica,
  - (i) do not exist or are unavailable,
  - (ii) are not reasonable or practical for the length of time or frequency of exposure or the nature of the process, operation or work, or
  - (iii) are not effective because of a temporary breakdown of equipment, the employer shall provide a worker with respiratory equipment which shall be used by the worker.

(2) Subject to subsection (1), where a worker is exposed to airborne silica, the worker may request a respirator and the employer shall provide it.

(3) Where respiratory equipment is provided by an employer and used by a worker, the respiratory equipment shall,

- (a) be appropriate in the circumstances for the concentration of airborne silica;

(b) meet or exceed the requirements set out in the Code for Respiratory Equipment for Silica dated the 17th day of October, 1983 and issued by the Ministry; and

(c) be used in accordance with the requirements of the Code.

(4) The employer shall provide training and instruction to a worker in the proper care and use of respiratory equipment provided by the employer. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 5.

6.—(1) Every employer to whom this Regulation applies shall cause an assessment to be made in writing of the exposure or likelihood of exposure in a work place of a worker to the inhalation of silica.

(2) In causing the assessment to be made, the employer shall consider and take into account such matters as,

- (a) the methods and procedures used or to be used in the processing, use, handling or storage of silica;
- (b) the extent and potential extent of the exposure of a worker to the inhalation of silica; and
- (c) the measures and procedures necessary to control such exposure by means of engineering controls, work practices and hygiene practices and facilities.

(3) In causing the assessment to be made, the employer shall consult thereon with the joint health and safety committee and the committee may make recommendations with respect to the assessment.

(4) A copy of the assessment made by an employer shall be given by the employer to each member of the joint health and safety committee. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 6.

7.—(1) Where the assessment discloses or would, if made in conformity with section 6, disclose that a worker is likely to inhale silica and that the health of the worker may be affected thereby, the employer shall develop, establish, put into effect and maintain measures and procedures to control the exposure of the worker to silica and shall incorporate the same into a silica control program.

(2) The silica control program shall include provisions for,

- (a) engineering controls, work practices and hygiene practices and facilities to control the exposure of a worker to silica;
- (b) methods and procedures to monitor the concentrations of airborne silica in the work place and the exposure of a worker thereto;

- (c) personal records of the exposure of a worker to silica at the work place, including the time-weighted average exposure of the worker and of the concentrations of silica and the times in which such concentrations were taken to be representative of the exposure of the worker and used in calculating the average exposure to be maintained by the employer;
- (d) medical examinations and clinical tests of a worker;
- (e) records of medical examinations and clinical tests of a worker to be maintained by a physician who has examined the worker or under whose direction the examination and tests have been performed; and
- (f) a training program for supervisors and workers on the health effects of silica and the measures and procedures required under the silica control program.

(3) In developing the measures and procedures mentioned in subsection (1) and the silica control program, the employer shall consult with the joint health and safety committee and the committee may make recommendations with respect to the same. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 7.

8.—(1) Where engineering controls come into existence through the development of knowledge and technology and would, if adopted and implemented by an employer, reduce the exposure of a worker to or below the time-weighted average exposure limit prescribed by this Regulation, the employer shall adopt and implement the engineering controls where it is reasonable or practical so to do.

(2) Where a change is made in a process involving silica, in mining or in the methods and procedures in the use, handling or storage of silica and the change could result in a significant difference in the exposure of a worker to the inhalation of silica, the employer shall cause a further assessment to be made forthwith and the provisions of sections 6 and 7 apply to the further assessment. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 8.

9.—(1) Where disputes arise between an employer and a joint health and safety committee as to an assessment required under section 6 or 8 or as to the measures and procedures mentioned in subsection 7 (1) or the silica control program or its provisions required under section 7 or 8, the employer, a member of the joint health and safety committee or the committee may notify an inspector thereof who shall investigate and give a decision in writing to the employer, the member or the committee.

(2) Nothing in subsection (1) applies so as to affect the power of an inspector to issue an order for a contravention of this Regulation. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 9.

10.—(1) A copy of the silica control program put into effect by the employer shall be given by the employer to each member of the joint health and safety committee and the employer shall acquaint every worker affected by the silica control program with its provisions.

(2) A copy of the silica control program put into effect by the employer shall be made available by the employer in English and in the majority language of the work place. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 10.

11. Subject to section 17, the procedures for monitoring, sampling and determining the concentrations of airborne silica in the atmosphere of a work place and the exposure of a worker thereto shall be those set out in the Code for Measuring Airborne Silica dated the 17th day of October, 1983, and issued by the Ministry. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 11.

12. The results of monitoring the concentrations of airborne silica in the work place and the exposure of a worker thereto as provided by the silica control program shall be,

- (a) posted forthwith by the employer, as soon as the results are available, in a conspicuous place or places at the work place where they are most likely to come to the attention of the workers affected thereby, for a period of at least fourteen days;
- (b) furnished to the joint health and safety committee; and
- (c) kept by the employer for a period of at least five years. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 12.

13.—(1) A worker shall, at the expense of the employer, undergo the medical examinations and clinical tests required under the silica control program.

(2) The medical examinations and clinical tests required under the silica control program shall make provisions for,

- (a) pre-employment and pre-placement medical examinations to include,
  - (i) a medical history,
  - (ii) a physical examination, and
  - (iii) clinical tests including chest x-rays and pulmonary function tests as required by the examining physician; and
- (b) periodic medical examinations and clinical tests consisting of the items prescribed by clause (a).

(3) The medical history, physical examination and clinical tests shall meet the provisions of the Code for Medical Surveillance of Silica Exposed Workers dated the 17th day of October, 1983, and issued by the Ministry. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 13.

14.—(1) The records of the exposures of each worker to airborne silica at the work place to be maintained as provided by the silica control program shall identify the worker, including his date of birth, his jobs or occupations at the work place, the results of monitoring for exposure to airborne silica in his work area and the use by the worker of respiratory equipment and its type.

(2) The employer shall provide a copy of the records of the exposures of the worker to airborne silica as provided by the silica control program to the physician who examines the worker and under whose supervision the clinical tests of the worker are performed. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 14.

15.—(1) The records of medical examinations and clinical tests of a worker obtained and made under this Regulation and of the exposures of the worker to airborne silica furnished by the employer under subsection 14 (2) shall be kept in a secure place by the physician who has conducted the examinations and tests or under whose supervision the examinations and tests have been made for,

(a) a period of forty years from the time such records were first made; or

(b) a period of twenty years from the time the last of such records were made,

whichever is the longer.

(2) Where the physician is no longer able or willing to keep the records, the records shall be forwarded to the Chief Physician, Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry, or a physician designated by the Chief Physician and the provisions of subsection (1) shall, with necessary modifications, apply thereto. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 15.

16.—(1) The physician conducting the physical examination or clinical tests or under whose supervision the examination or tests are made shall advise the employer, who shall act thereon, and the worker whether the worker is fit or because of a condition resulting from exposure to silica is fit with limitations or unfit, for work in silica exposure without giving or disclosing to the employer the records or results of the examination or tests, and in advising that the worker is fit with limitations or unfit, the physician shall be governed by the provisions of the Code for Medical Surveillance of Silica Exposed Workers referred to in subsection 13 (3).

(2) Where a worker is removed from exposure to silica because a physical examination or clinical test discloses that the worker may have or has a condition resulting from exposure to silica and suffers a loss of earnings occasioned thereby, the worker is entitled to compensation for the loss in the manner and to the extent provided by the Workers' Compensation Act.

(3) Upon advising the employer and the worker that a worker, because of a condition resulting from exposure to silica, is fit with limitations or unfit for work in silica exposure, the physician shall advise in writing upon a confidential basis the joint health and safety committee thereof and in giving such advice shall indicate his opinion as to the interpretation to be placed thereon.

(4) Copies of the exposure records and the records and results of physical examinations and clinical tests of a worker shall be given by the physician conducting the examinations or tests,

(a) to the worker or his physician upon the request in writing of the worker; and

(b) in the case of a deceased worker, to the next of kin or personal representative of the worker, upon the request in writing of such next of kin or personal representative, and any authorization of another person by the worker or his next of kin or personal representative is of no effect.

(5) Where the physician advises the employer that a worker, because of a condition resulting from exposure to silica, is fit with limitations or is unfit for work in silica exposure, the physician shall forthwith communicate such advice to the Chief Physician, Occupational Health Medical Service of the Ministry. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 16.

17. For the purposes of this Regulation, the methods and procedures that may be used or adopted may vary from the Codes issued by the Ministry if the protection afforded thereby or the factors of accuracy and precision used or adopted are equal to or exceed the protection or the factors of accuracy and precision in the Codes issued by the Ministry. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 17.

18. Section 273, as amended by section 75 of Ontario Regulation 569/83, and sections 274, 275, 276 and 277 of Regulation 694 of Revised Regulations of Ontario, 1980 are revoked. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 18.

19.—(1) This Regulation, except sections 4, 5, 7, 8 and 10 to 18, comes into force on the day this Regulation is filed with the Registrar of Regulations.

(2) Sections 4, 5, 7, 8 and 10 to 18 come into force ninety days after the day this Regulation is filed with the Registrar of Regulations. O. Reg. 769/83, s. 19.

Schedule

The time-weighted average exposure of a worker to airborne silica shall be calculated as follows:

1. The average concentrations of silica to which a worker is exposed shall be determined from analyses of air samples representative of the exposure of the worker to silica during work operations as set out in the Code mentioned in section 11.

To these Acts the Royal Assent was announced by the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly in the following words:—

"In Her Majesty's name, the Honourable the Lieutenant Governor doth assent to these Bills".

Mr. Speaker then said:—

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR HONOUR:

We, Her Majesty's most dutiful and faithful subjects, the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, in session assembled, approach Your Honour with sentiments of unfeigned devotion and loyalty to Her Majesty's person and Government, and humbly beg to present for Your Honour's acceptance a Bill intituled, "An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the Public Service for the fiscal year ending the 31st day of March, 1984."

To this Act the Royal Assent was announced by the Clerk of the Legislative Assembly in the following words:—

"The Honourable the Lieutenant Governor doth thank Her Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, accept their benevolence and assent to this Bill in Her Majesty's name".

The Honourable the Lieutenant Governor was then pleased to deliver the following gracious speech:—

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly:

The priorities of this Government during this Third Session of the Thirty-Second Parliament of Ontario have been the restoration of economic prosperity and the enhancement of the services available to our citizens.

The 1983 Budget introduced a number of job creation, job training and capital works programs with particular attention being directed towards the provision of employment opportunities for the young men and women of Ontario. A number of tax measures were also implemented to increase the investor confidence and consumer spending required to sustain the return to economic well-being. Such measures include the extension of the small business tax holiday from Provincial corporate income tax, expanded exemptions from retail sales tax to encourage investment in production facilities and the 90-day tax exemption for the purchase of household items. Through these measures, our economy has strengthened considerably as exemplified by the fact that there are now 196,000 more Ontarians employed than there were in November 1982.

Demonstrating its long standing commitment to fiscal responsibility, the Government continued its public sector wage and price restraint policies for an additional year. These efforts, together with the self discipline which has been practised since 1975, have enabled the Government to weather recent uncertainties without sacrificing the social services which Ontarians have striven to establish and maintain.

Indeed, a number of additional services and measures which reflect my Government's continued emphasis on social justice, were introduced during the session now ending. Such initiatives include the appointment of a Minister Responsible for Women's Issues, the establishment of the Ontario Women's Directorate, the appointment of a Provincial Coordinator of Family Violence Initiatives, the nomination of a respected human rights advocate to the position of Ombudsman, an increase in the minimum wage and improvements to Ontario's income support programs.

Honourable Members, I commend your sense of duty and the progress you have achieved. In closing may I take this opportunity to wish you a safe and pleasant holiday season.

Au nom de notre Souveraine, je vous remercie.

In our Sovereign's name, I thank you.

Je declare cette session prorogée.

I now declare the session prorogued.

The Government House Leader then said:—

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislative Assembly:—

It is the will and pleasure of the Honourable the Lieutenant Governor that this Legislative Assembly be prorogued and this Legislative Assembly is accordingly prorogued.
